A GREATER NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL

ANNUAL MESSAGE

DELIVERED BY

HERBERT D. ALLMAN, *President of the National Farm School

AT THE

OCCASION OF THE

29th ANNUAL MEETING, OCTOBER 3, 1926

"The good that man does lives after him." 'Tis not a long span from the embryo Farm School, conceived by our sainted leader, Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, a little over a generation ago, to the great national conference called together last June, and sponsored by such outstanding men as President Calvin Coolidge, Secretary of Agriculture, Wm. M. Jardine, Abraham Erlanger, Adam Gimbel, Miss Sophie Irene Loeb and Mannie Straus.

I wonder if the spirit of this great founder, even with the God-given vision and energy that were his, could have foreseen the enormous headway his dream has made, becoming, almost overnight, national in fact as well as in name.

This successful conference which convened in New York City from June 2 to 7, inclusive, was conceived, presided over and financed by one man, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, philanthropist and generous benefactor of our School, one of its most active directors and supporters, and always an ardent advocate of expansion and progress.

There came leading educators, agriculturists and Governors' representatives from most every State in the Union, with Mayors' delegates from large cities, to attend this Conference, and in addition to the endorsement of President Coolidge and Secretary Jardine, it won the hearty commendation of such statesmen as Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas; Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, I. W. Dunlap; Director of Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dr. C. W. Warburton; Hon. Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois; Hon. Morris Shepherd, Senator from Texas; Hon. Benjamin F. Yoakum, and many others. We are proud to include such illustrious names among our already large list of prominent endorsers of the past.

Through this Conference, we now enter upon a new phase of development and expansion—"A Greater National Farm School." So keen was the interest animating the public, that newspapers throughout the country gave largely of their space to record the daily proceedings. News items and editorials appeared in thousands of prominent papers, in addition to over one hundred articles in New York City's large dailies.

Time does not allow for even a short synopsis of the eventful addresses made by the many leaders of agriculture and education, who helped to project this most successful gathering, where thoughtful minds discussed general agricultural problems, and offered to aid our School in its constructive policy.

While in its personnel and attitude it was non-sectarian, the fact of the Jewish origin of the School was never lost sight of, nor that Dr. Krauskopf, a Philadelphia Rabbi, was its founder; that for almost thirty years it had been managed by a Board of Trustees, most of whom were Jewish men prominent in the community; that it had been sustained by capital from the same source; and that its original purpose was to encourage, especially Jewish boys to leave congested cities for farming as a life's vocation.

Dr. Krauskopf's wider realization of his original idea was also brought out; i. e., that which applied to his co-religionists, applied as well to all citizens—Jew and non-Jew. Then why not encourage unsatisfied boys and girls, otherwise welded to city occupations, by the accident of urban birth, to go out on the farm where an outdoor vocation could give them health, happiness and a dignified career?

Statistics presented by various delegates revealed the constantly increasing influx of millions of men and women from farms to cities; the depletion of the rural population; the exchange of farm life for the alluring but superficial existence in the city; that from a nation of soil tillers, we were gradually being transformed into one of industrial workers. Available figures quoted show that the combined capital of farmers in our country is alarmingly decreasing.

Many of the delegates were women, successful exponents of agriculture, who advocated the training of city girls for agricultural pursuits. They proved that the farm offers a career for women anxious to exercise initiative and work at something they love; that it is essential that farmers' homes be occupied by properly trained intelligent women.

On the final day of the Conference, the delegates unanimously agreed, having made the trip from New York to the School, and having thoroughly inspected our plant, that this unique institution, by its method of educating boys—and perhaps in the near future girls—practically and theoretically, is one of the cornerstones in the edifice of American agriculture; that the farming needs of the Nation can be bettered through active co-operation with The National Farm School, the parent institution of a new type of agricultural training; that the School deserves the financial support of the entire country, setting as an ultimate goal an aggregate sum of $15,000,000.

Will we, the Trustees, measure up to these larger responsibilities? I think so. Allow me to quote parts of Dr. Krauskopf's last Annual Message, delivered in October, 1922, which graphically sketches some of the many obstacles you courageous pioneers overcame in the past. He said:

"Somewhere, some poet said 'every anniversary is the dispelling of a dream.' Back of this utterance there may have been sad experiences. Our experience since the founding of The National Farm School, twenty-five years ago, has been far more favorable. Each annual gathering records a nearer fulfillment of the cherished dream. We knew when we started this radical project, the time element must not be stressed. The sinking in of new thoughts is a slow process, often requiring centuries before an enduring impression is made. To have accomplished this much, in so short a time, spells to an historian not a 'dispelling of a dream,' but a very near realization of it."

Then he tells us with pardonable pride, that the plant had grown from almost nothing to the respectable sum of $500,000 without any indebtedness upon it. It is my pleasure and privilege to tell you that a conservative estimate of our plant today, four years later, approximates a sum of $1,500,000, still without encumbrance.

If we show this remarkable progress in so short a time, is it not a justifiable claim that we shall faithfully meet our new responsibilities? That, having received the plaudits and encomiums of agricultural thinkers, men and women from Maine to California, shall we not advance step by step until we reach the new goal set for us? Surely, we shall not disappoint these new-found friends and admirers.

On January 3, 1926, your Board of Trustees, having made an extensive national survey of the practicability and desirability of admitting girls as co-educational students, unanimously passed a resolution, the purport of which was, when there is a demand for such entrance, and provided sufficient funds for buildings and maintenance are forthcoming, a certain number of young women shall be admitted.

This pronouncement which was reaffirmed by a resolution unanimously passed at the Convention, is not a new thought, for it had long been in the minds of the Founders, in fact, it was Dr. Krauskopf's original plan for the School. He urged its establishment in several Annual Messages, but lack of funds made it impossible of realization.

I have dwelt on this New York Conference, because it is, I believe, the most important, illuminating and outstanding event in all the thirty years' existence of the School.

Let us hope and pray that strength and length of life may be the portion of our beloved benefactor, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, who helped make this possible; that he may lead us on a journey towards much greater heights of successful achievement; that the fruits of this agricultural conference may be abundant, uplifting and far-reaching to all mankind.

Your Trustees at the September meeting, recognizing their obligations towards this expansion for "A Greater Farm School," were in accord that a broader supervision and administration was necessary, and it was therefore unanimously resolved that a personal contact service between the boys at School and after graduation be set up, in order to encourage and continue sympathetic and intelligent relationship between the School and the student; that short unit courses be established in addition to the regular three-year term; that the Faculty shall be strengthened to the highest point of efficiency, supplemented by a practical farm manager; that an intensive campaign for securing high-grade students be inaugurated, with headquarters in New York and Philadelphia.

Through the generosity of New York friends, their Trades have contributed sixty scholarships, enabling us to increase our student enrollment, and with the help of our friends throughout the country, we hope to extend further this program of expansion.

The various departments of the School have operated to capacity, growth being the keynote, in the calibre of our students, Faculty and development of plant.

HAYING ON ERLANGER FARM No. 6

At the Commencement Exercises on Washington's Birthday, thirty students were graduated. How the physical aspect of the School changed during the three years since they were freshmen. was graphically narrated by Class President Kleinfeld in his salutatory address. Shortly after their matriculation in 1923, Pioneer Hall was destroyed by fire, followed by the death of our beloved leader, Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, but out of these misfortunes arose the phœnix of a bigger and a better Farm School. The first building to take tangible form was the modern Ulman Dormitories. Segal, Penn and Eisner Halls were remodeled on practical lines, a credit to the Building Committee. Then came the noble Krauskopf Memorial Library, the modern Erlanger Farms and Straus Dairy, the Horticultural Storage Building, additional acreage with more modern farm machinery and implements, and a complete underground sanitation plant.

Remodelling of Lasker Hall converts an unused attic into comfortable living rooms for our Faculty, also a new section of dormitories for the help. On the second floor, first-class dispensaries and isolation wards have been established. The kitchen and dining room space has been increased. The old dairy building is remodelled for the teaching of farm mechanics, until such time when we can afford a modern building. All these improvements are factors for better work.

We are proud of the social and athletic life of the School. The monthly dances, under the auspices of our Women's and Domestic Committees have been popular. Moving pictures have proved enjoyable, a new projector having been donated by Mr. Jules Mastbaum. An orthophonic radio-phonograph, the gift of Mr. Abraham Erlanger, is a delightful means of entertainment. Prominent men and women have participated in our cultural Forum gatherings, to which the students and surrounding communities are cordially invited.

Our Library with its magnificent setting is rapidly becoming a mecca for research, study and recreational reading. Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Hart Blumenthal, Chairman of the Library Committee, who brings a thorough knowledge of the requirements, many new books are being added. To Mrs. Eugene M. Stern, we are indebted for a generous gift of $1,000 in the name of her deceased husband. In grateful appreciation, we have inscribed his name, and that of Mrs. Meyer Sycle, in whose memory her husband made a liberal gift, on a new bronze tablet in the Library.

We consider ourselves fortunate in having added to our host of supporters the membership, individually and collectively, of the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity, who in addition to the service they are rendering in making the work of the School better known throughout the land, have added their subscription to our growing list of perpetual Scholarships.

Our generous patron, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, has added to his other munificent gifts a donation to cover the cost of our new model barns—the last word in modern construction—which have been named in his honor.

Our Exhibit in the Palace of Education at the Sesqui-Centennial has received much favorable commendation by visitors and in the public press. Our various activities were graphically displayed, the exhibits changing weekly, demonstrating the different branches of the School's instruction.

We are indebted to our esteemed fellow Trustee, Mr. Adolph Eichholz, for having had all of our properties henceforth exempted from County Taxes, thus effecting a large saving.

To the honored and beloved Chairman of our Board, Mr. Harry B. Hirsh, to our Vice-Chairman, Mr. Joseph H. Hagedorn, and Treasurer, Mr. I. H. Silverman, to our very active National Chairman, Mr. Abraham Erlanger and to the Chairmen of our various Committees, Dr. Louis Nusbaum, Educational; Mr. Louis A. Hirsch, Domestic; Mr. Leon Rosenbaum, Building; Mr. Joseph N. Snellenburg, Finance; Mr. Alfred M. Klein, Budget; Mr. Grant Wright, Publicity, and to the men and women members of all committees, we extend our sincere thanks. Without their untiring efforts and loyalty, the splendid showing we make today could not have been achieved.

The Dean, Superintendent, Office and entire Faculty, headed by our Director, Dr. Bernhard Ostrolenk, have individually and collectively rendered valuable and loyal service. They have labored homogeneously and conscientiously, in fair weather and storm, for the good of the School, and our sincere commendation and thanks are gratefully tendered them publicly today, for much of the School's success is due to them.

To the staff of the Philadelphia Office and our Field Secretaries, we offer our sincere thanks and appreciation because of their constant and economical service, under the efficient supervision of our Secretary, Miss Elsie M. Bellefield.

Our thanks are extended to the Federation of Jewish Charities of Philadelphia for their annual contribution of $21,000, also to the numerous other Federated Charities throughout the country who have encouraged us with financial support; to the State of Pennsylvania for its appropriation of $25,000 for the biennium; to the Baron de Hirsch Fund for its continued encouragement in addition to an annual sum of $15,000; and to our hosts of friends and supporters, men and women throughout the country, who so generously and helpfully encourage and further our work.

Our Endowment Fund has been increased through bequests, memorial donations and Life Memberships by $17,000 during the year, bringing the total fund to $227,000.

Our Jubilee Building and Endowment Fund now totals $730,000, an increase of $140,000. Much of this has gone into new buildings, repairs and improvements. It had been our hope to erect this year a much-needed central heating plant, the economy and efficiency being obvious, but necessary funds are not yet available.

We record with sincere sorrow, the death of our benefactor, Mr. Henry L. Frank of Chicago, who passed away last spring, and of Mrs. Harry Bayersdorfer, who for years, as a member of the Women's Board, was an ardent worker.

To summarize: A Campaign for Five Million Dollars, the first step toward the Fifteen Million Dollar goal suggested by the Conference is now being launched. Surveys of our entire acreage and curriculum have been made and approved by governmental expert agriculturists. Crop returns have been larger and better than in any previous year. The student body and graduating classes are the largest and best in our history. Our Faculty has been strengthened and equipment for instruction enlarged. The breed of cattle has been improved, and the general functioning and development of the entire School have made records which I am sure you will look upon with pride and satisfaction. While all this is most gratifying we must not allow our efforts and energy to slow down. "A Greater National Farm School" was the watchword of the New York Conference. It must be ours also. Therefore, we can not pause to rest upon our past achievements. We must not stand still. The greater school will place new and added burdens upon us, but we know that the courageous spirit of the founders who so valiantly met and overcame the almost insurmountable difficulties of the past, will be our strength and inspiration; that our friends who have helped and encouraged us, will stand by in our greater effort; that new friends will rally to our cause, so that from out of this School will go legions of young men dedicated to service and leadership in the tilling of the soil, this primary occupation, the basis and foundation of our Nation's safety and liberty.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL GRADUATION

February 22, 1926

The twenty-sixth class was graduated from The National Farm School on Monday, February 22, 1926, when thirty students were awarded diplomas for the completion of their three-years' training in practical and scientific agriculture.

The Exercises were held in the Joseph Krauskopf Library. Dr. Cheeseman A. Herrick, President of Girard College, was the guest speaker of the day. He told the graduates that many of the greatest men of our country were brought up on the farms, and gained their ability to meet the situations of life in the country. On the farm they acquired capacity to adopt their means to the end desired better than in any other occupation in life.

Mr. Herbert D. Allman, President of The National Farm School, presided, and in his address called attention to the great importance of agriculture to our country. He contrasted the splendidly equipped School of today and its more than 1,100 acres, to the small struggling institution of a generation ago. Mr. Harry B. Hirsh, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, also spoke, and pointed out to the graduates the great future offered to them as farmers, with the background of their practical and scientific training, made possible for them by The National Farm School.

Jos. M. Kleinfeld, President of the Class, was Salutatorian, and Harold Peskin, winner of the Myer Rothstein Prize, was Valedictorian. The "Presentation of the Hoe" was made by Irwin Klein to the incoming Senior Class. A number of cash prizes offered by generous donors were awarded, and the Walker-Gordon Scholarships went to Harold Kaplan, Harry C. Doremus and Moses Grossfield.

The Invocation was given by Rev. W. R. Deal of Doylestown.

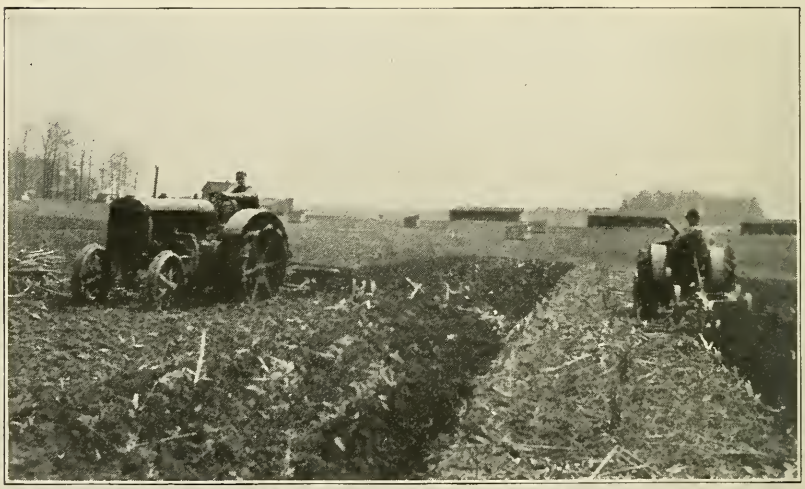
THE VEGETABLE GARDEN PROJECT



PLOWING AND HARROWING AT SCHOENFELD FARM No. 1

THIRD ANNUAL FOUNDERS' DAY
NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Sunday, June 6, 1926

New significance was given the celebration of Founder's Day at The National Farm School this year, coming as it did in the midst of The National Farm School Conference, endorsed by President Coolidge, and called together in New York City June 2nd to 7th, by Mr. Abraham Erlanger, for the purpose of "relieving somewhat the seething city streets and giving under-privileged boys and girls an opportunity to learn the joy of the open country by tilling the soil scientifically for a livelihood and for a richer life; to encourage and extend co-education in agricultural schools; to stimulate attendance at all agricultural schools; and to take counsel to insure the growth of The National Farm School, the pioneer institution, which offers facilities for training deserving city boys and girls in vocational agriculture."

It was to add impetus to these aims that invitations to attend the Conference had been issued to and accepted by Governors of States and Mayors of large cities, who sent delegates to the Conference, which was likewise attended by educators and philanthropists from all over the land.

As a part of their week's deliberations, the delegates made the trip from their headquarters in New York City by special train and bus to the grounds of the School, to participate in the observance of Founders' Day, and to inspect the plant of the institution and its possibilities for increased service and expansion of its field of activities.

Striking the keynote of the Founder's Day Exercises, as well as that which had been sounded in New York during the week's Conference, Dr. Wm. H. Fineshriber, of Philadelphia, the principal speaker of the day, told a story of the widening of the scope of the School, so that its benefits might be distributed throughout the length and breadth of our great land.

A multitude of points of real constructive value were discussed in the addresses of the distinguished speakers.

The program was opened by Mr. Harry B. Hirsh, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, who led the boys in a cheer for the delegates from throughout the Nation. He then presented Mr. Herbert D. Allman, President of the School, who in a brief welcome to the delegates, introduced Mr. Grant Wright as Presiding Officer of the day. Memorial tributes were paid to the late Judge John M. Patterson, by Judge Frank Smith of Philadelphia; to Dr. Russell H. Conwell, founder of Temple University, by Dr. Charles Edward Buery, its President; to Hon. Oscar Straus of New York, and Mr. Henry L. Frank of Chicago, by Mr. Jos. H. Hagedorn, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Abraham Erlanger, of New York, spoke of the interest shown by the delegates who came from afar to visit the School; and short talks on the agricultural situation were delivered by Mr. G. H. Hecke, of the California State Department of Agriculture; Mr. Jewell Mayes, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture of Missouri, and Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, President of The National Child Welfare Association of New York, the latter speaking on agricultural education for girls, and appealing to the women of the country to assist the School in becoming co-educational.

The impressive Memorial and Festive Tree Consecration was then held, this being an annual ceremony at these Founder's Day Exercises.

An inspection of the School and its grounds by the visitors followed the speaking program of the day, after which the Conference delegates entrained for the return trip to New York, for an evening session in their week's program.

(A fuller account of the successful conference is given in the Annual Message of the President, pages 5 to 12 of this book.)

AN APPRECIATION

To Mr. Abraham Erlanger, Philanthropist and Builder

Because of the courage, vision and generosity of a modest leader, this issue of the 1926 Annual Report records one of the most outstanding years in the history of The National Farm School.

For twenty-six years in passing each successful milestone under the guidance of its founder, the Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, the School has grown in land, buildings, scope and student enrollment.

Then, alas, in 1923 our beloved leader passed to the Great Beyond, leaving this successful pioneer work to be carried on by faithful and loyal associates—the Board of Trustees.

Just about this time, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, trustee of the Rosetta M. Ulman Estate, made possible the erection of beautiful Ulman Hall, a dormitory comfortably housing one hundred students. Naturally, this brought Mr. Erlanger in close contact with the School, and through long training in educational endeavors he immediately sensed its greater possibilities. Year by year his interest and personal benefactions grew, culminating in his projecting a Nation-wide Conference in New York City, June 2 to 7, 1926, the cost being entirely borne by him.

Came to this great gathering—endorsed by President Coolidge and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine—governors, mayors and agriculturists from every State in the Union. Morning and afternoon sessions were held at Hotel Biltmore, at which addresses were made by many of America's most prominent educators, followed daily by constructive and illuminating discussions upon agricultural subjects, and stressing the urgent need of enlarging the scope of the unique work of The National Farm School.

Limited space precludes more than a mere outline of this great event. A complete résumé of the entire conference has been recently issued through the same generous source, copies of which may be had on application.

The convention was a tremendous success, publicized by the entire press of the country, and at the closing session the delegates unanimously voted upon a set of resolutions embracing fifteen articles—expressing their appreciation of the call for the Conference by Mr. Erlanger; their hearty approval of the aims and purposes of the School; their endorsement of co-education; the building of a Revolving Fund for Graduate Loans; the recommendation to State and Federal Governments to support and encourage this type of work throughout the country and, finally, that large sums of money should be gathered in the next ten years for this purpose.

Our Board of Trustees have on many public occasions expressed their appreciation of Mr. Erlanger's constructive work, and on December 4, 1926, the anniversary of his birthday, presented him with engrossed resolutions of gratitude, felicity and congratulations, which were personally signed by every member of the Board of Trustees.

With such magnificent support, we may look forward with confidence to "A Greater National Farm School."

HERBERT D. ALLMAN,
President.

TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL MEETING AND HARVEST PILGRIMAGE

Sunday, October 3, 1926

The Twenty-ninth Annual Meeting of The National Farm School, held on the School grounds, on Sunday afternoon, October 3, 1926, was a notable gathering. Representatives of the Department of Agriculture, graduates now settled on farms in many parts of the country, officials of the National Expansion Project and many interested friends of the School coming from far and wide, students, Faculty members and Trustees of the School, assembled to hear the accounts of another year's successful work and bountiful harvests.

The Exercises were held in the Louchheim Auditorium, which was beautifully festooned and decorated with the products of the fields.

Rabbi Wm. H. Fineshriber opened the meeting with an invocation, after which he paid a tribute to Dr. Jos. Krauskopf, founder of the School, saying in part: "Every leaf, every blade of grass and kernel of grain, every bit of fruit on these beautiful acres, constantly pays tribute to the ideals of Joseph Krauskopf. You young men, students of this School, are to carry on the spirit of Joseph Krauskopf. You will be true to that trust."

Mr. Jos. H. Hagedorn, of Philadelphia, presided, and in graceful and charming manner introduced the speakers of the day.

Mrs. Estelle M. Sternberger, Executive Secretary of The National Council of Jewish Women, praised the plan to admit girls to the School in the near future, and called it "an epoch-making opportunity in the economic history of womankind," stating that in return women throughout the land would rally to the support of the Institution.

"Never before," said Mrs. Sternberger, "has opportunity opened its doors to Farm School as at the present time. This School, so modest in the myriad of educational institutions that cover our land, has awakened to the realization that America wants to know it and to be generous with it. The candle that has been hiding its light is now become a powerful beacon. Never have the times been more propitious for gaining America's ear for the cause of The National Farm School. Never has there been such readiness on the part of men and women to respond to the ideals that called this School into being. With the tremendous development of our industries and the consequent withdrawal of many from the farms to the cities; and with the chaos that now prevails in many lands, people are willing to place their all at the feet of those who are ready to lay a hand to the plough, and perfume the hills and plains of America with the fragrant harvest of the wheat and the corn.

"I believe this School will soon bring about a great advancement in agriculture for both men and women. Farm School's plan of expansion is a great experiment in American education."

Mr. Herbert D. Allman, President of the School, in his Annual Message (printed in full on pp. 5 to 12) spoke of the continued progress made by the School during the year, and gave a résumé of the National Conference which convened in New York City last June, through which the School is now entering upon the second and larger stage of its development and service.

Dr. James A. Pratt, President of the Williamson Trade School, was the next speaker. Dr. Pratt said in part:

"Not many years back a philanthropist conceived the idea of the betterment of his people. This philanthropist was Rabbi Joseph Krauskopf. He saw many of his young people living in this land of opportunties, this land of broad perspective and great achievements, without any appreciation of what might be theirs, if they were but qualified to accept the gifts.

"What was his selected plan for the betterment of his young people? It is said that when the Creator had the world ready for man, He "planted a garden," and it is small wonder that in the garden we find the beginning of the sacred history of the human race. So Rabbi Krauskopf selected as the avenue by which his young friends should better themselves, the one which led by the way of planting a garden, or in modern phraseology—agriculture.

"May this philanthropy continue, grow and enrich the lives of the many young people who in future years will knock at its doors for training and betterment."

The audience was impressed with the results shown by students of the Senior Class, who reported on the projects under their charge, from ploughing and seeding to harvesting and marketing. The students who participated in these discussions were:

Archibald Cohen, Portsmouth, N. H., Farm Management Project, Farm No. 1.
Samuel Price, Bridgeport, Conn., Landscape Project.
Jack Rosenthal, Philadelphia, Pa., Apple Growing Project.
Carl Julian Schiff, Bogota, N. J., Farm Management Project, Farm No. 5.

Following the award of prizes to the students of the School, Officers and members of the Board were elected.

The exercises were closed with benediction by Dr. Fineshriber, after which the guests inspected the buildings, and wandered through the well-tilled fields and fruitful orchards, all showing the results of the trained work of the students.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR

Bernhard Ostrolenk, Ph. D.

The highest conception of altruism is the man who toils for those who follow him, in order that they may enjoy the fruits of this earth more abundantly than has he. As a nation, we are pledged so to develop our natural resources that they will last for generation upon generation. As a people, it is our aim to make this world a place in which our children and children's children will find happiness and contentment.

The greatest indestructible resource that this Nation has and whose development will make for continued prosperity, is the soil. It seems inconceivable that the agricultural empire in this Nation can ever be permitted to decay. In spite of the present migratory movement from farm to city, the greatest power that this Nation possesses is still its agricultural resources. Yet we learn from many sources that the farmer is discouraged and dispirited, that the farmer's wife desires to sell out and move to the city, that the farmer's children insist upon seeking city careers, that poverty stalks in the midst of an abundance of crops in our countryside.

We learn from the United States census, of millions of farmers abandoning the farms and of their moving to the cities. We learn of idle land, of a decreasing export and of decreasing area that is tilled. We are told on all sides that this farm depression exists simultaneously with a continued urban prosperity, unparalleled in the history of the world.

Those of us who are short-sighted and those of us who live for the present only, would at once deduce from this that it is folly for our young men to seek careers in agriculture. But those of us who have conceptions of buttressing this prosperity for the future, who have conceptions of a stable and cultured civilization to remain after us, should lay more firmly than ever the foundations of our future prosperity and our future civilization on our fertile and productive soil. We have those, to be sure, who question every activity for agriculture with the money-dazzled idiom "does it pay?" And frankly, our very work at this School is often rated on the same basis.

However, in the first place, the situation is much better than the public has been led to believe. To be sure, at first glance, the average farmer has not been as prosperous as the average city man, but all over the land there are millions of farmers who have done well in spite of admitted disadvantages and disproportionate price levels during the past few years. All over the land there are farmers who are quietly preparing for the day when our exports and our surplus will cease to be a mill-stone that is abnormally depressing prices. All over the land there are Farm School graduates who are finding employment in agriculture, gaining experience, and accumulating capital with the hope of striking out independently on their own farms in a few years.

Agriculture is undergoing a change. The unsatisfactory, inefficient methods of the past are giving way to unit production at low costs, utilizing machinery and science. We need new blood on the farm. The quality of the farmers must be raised and we may then view their reduced numbers with equanimity. The changed agriculture must be one not merely of low cost production but of efficient marketing methods. Already a vast amount of experience is being gained by cooperative marketing, that has tremendously increased the consumption of agricultural products and has distributed perishable fruit and fresh vegetables at all seasons of the year, into every nook and corner of the land.

Thoughtful men recognize that agriculture must always be the foundation of prosperity and industry in this country. They recognize, moreover, that the farmer contributes two supreme qualities to a nation, stability and independence. In the midst of a nation in which there are a mounting number of easy-money seekers, he sets an example of stamina for hard labor with modest rewards. In a nation that is filling up with cinema-drugged emotionalists, he lives in dignity and independence. In a nation that seems increasingly becoming gaudy in its tastes, he is living simply and treads the cool soil of mother earth.

That the depression in agriculture is a passing phase, and that ultimately the farmer will come into his own as an economic as well as a stabilizing force, is the conviction of those who have continued to build into this School.

The past year has seen progress in virtually every line of activity of the School. The increased number of students, the increased classroom facilities, the increased domestic facilities, and the increased teaching force, all testify to the growth of the School. Through the efforts of Mr. Abraham Erlanger, a special program for more selective students was conducted, and the result has been in every way a higher morale in the Freshman Class. I also want to pay, at this time, my tribute to the splendid work of the Senior Class who have carried projects on nine farms and in four departments. They have made new records, both in production and as custodians of the property and students entrusted to their care. It must be emphasized that the project system is one that not merely permits a student to take charge of a farm or of an orchard, but the student is also entrusted with the responsibility of teaching those who are placed under him. The morale in all projects has been excellent.

I desire at this time to give my special thanks to my colleagues on the Faculty who have labored with me in making this year a successful one from the teaching standpoint. Our Faculty have held to high ideals in achievements at the School.

They have labored with consecration and devotion. Their enthusiasm has had revivalistic fervor.

The National Farm School can join the Nation in thanksgiving for an abundant yield. The labors of students and Faculty have been rewarded with plenteous crops. The hay crop has been much larger than usual. Corn has been better than the five-year average. All grains have yielded excellently. Peaches are normal, and apples are much better than in the preceding year. Prices for all products have been fair. Not a single untoward accident has happened throughout the entire year to any of our cattle or stock, an incident that speaks well for the conscientious care that our students have given to our cows and horses.

As we look back upon the year just closing, we give thanks to all of our friends who by their labors and contributions of time and means have made possible our continued growth, and have helped us realize many of our dreams for this School. Many of our efforts have succeeded beyond all hopes and expectations, and we look forward with hope and confidence that our labors will be blessed with continued success in a fulfillment of the altruistic aims of our sainted founder.

FLOWER AND FRUIT FUND

Extract from the Last Will and Message of Dr. Krauskopf

"All moneys and investments remaining after the death of my wife, I desire turned over to the Board of Directors of The National Farm School, to be set aside by them as a special fund to be known as 'The Flower and Fruit Fund,' the interest of which is to be devoted to the distribution of flowers and fruits to the needy sick, irrespective of race, creed and color. The proper distribution of flowers and fruits shall be in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary of The National Farm School and of the Sisterhood of Congregation Keneseth Israel.

"I sincerely hope that this fund may become the nucleus of a much larger one, that to it may be devoted sums, which at the present time are invested in floral tributes on coffins and graves where they are of no benefit to the dead, and the living would be more lastingly comforted. The bereaved, I feel sure, will appreciate the affections and sentiment far better when learning of the contributions made to the Flower and Fruit Fund by friendly sympathizers, in commemoration of the dear departed.

"I trust that the Flower and Fruit Fund may some day become large enough to make possible the purchase of additional land by the Farm School, and setting such land aside for the special benefit of the debilitated poor, for a week's or fortnight's recreation by them during the summer, or by working said land by such of those who may have a chance to restore their lost health by outdoor work."

Friends of the School have inaugurated this Fund by contributions in memory of their departed. A start has been made in this way, and the fund is already operative in the distribution of flowers and fruits to the sick.

It is hoped that more and more people will take advantage of this mode of commemoration, so that the wish of the Founder in establishing this fund, may be fully realized.

EDISON says:

"Electricity will Sweep and Dust, Wash and Dry Dishes, Wash and Iron, Cook and Sew"

The use of electric labor-savers in the home takes the work out of housework —relieves the housewife of the monotony and drudgery of the ever-recurring daily routine—helps to solve the servant problem—and does all this in the most efficient and economical manner possible.

Unless you have an electric cleaner, washer and iron in your home, your housework is a much greater burden than necessary. Invest in these three labor-savers first of all and then add the rest as your particular household requirements demand.

Noted Scientists Approve of Gas Lighting

Scientific experiments by noted investigators prove that gas lighting improves the air for breathing purposes by helping ventilation, destroying germs and adding necessary moisture.

Scientists also know that modern gas light is best for the eyes, because it is so soft, mellow, free from glare and harmful color rays.

The Bureau of Standards, at Washington, refers in detail to the economy and quality of gas mantle light in a report entitled "Measurements for the Household."

WHY more dairymen are feeding "PILLSBURY" than ever before!

They have made a 30-day test and have figured the cost of "PILLSBURY" in terms of MILK

You make it too!

Make the thirty-day test that is winning hundreds of dairymen for "Pillsbury's" every month.

Make the test with your own cows.

Until this test was originated there were as many different theories concerning the correct feeding of dairy cows as there were different feeds and formulas. There were books, bulletins, advertisements, and signs all teaching and preaching a different theory—but all this information was less convincing to you than your own personal experience, in your own barn, with your own cows.

Now you can find out for yourself.

Take any two groups of cows in your barn. Feed both groups for 30 days. Feed the first group whatever ration you have been feeding. Feed the second group Pillsbury's Dairy Ration, following the "Suggestions for Feeding" that you find in each bag. Keep an actual record of each 100 pounds of milk obtained from both groups. Keep a record of the number of pounds of your grain ration fed to your first group and keep the same record of the number of pounds of "Pillsbury" fed to the other group. At the end of the 30-day period calculate the number of pounds of grain feed that were required to produce each 100 pounds of milk.

That is the 30-day test that has won so many hundreds of dairymen during the past five years. Four out of every five who make this test decide in favor of Pillsbury's Dairy Ration.

AMBLER ASBESTOS SHINGLES

THE FIREPROOF, WEATHERPROOF, CURLPROOF, EVERLASTING ROOFING MATERIAL

FOUR REASONS WHY THEY WERE USED

They Wear Forever

AMBLER ARTISTIC SHINGLES are fireproof, permanent, good looking and entirely free from upkeep expense.

They provide a roof and sidewalls that will practically last forever without repairing or patching—a roof that will never require paint and can never wear out.

They Are Fireproof

The fire protection that Ambler Asbestos Shingles give is one of the strong reasons for its growing popularity in the country and suburbs, where provisions for fighting fire are generally limited.

They Are Weatherproof

To construct a roof or sidewall that is weatherproof, will not admit rain or moisture, cannot burn or carry fire, and is not affected by sudden and violent changes of weather.

They Are Artistically Attractive

A roof that combines all these wonderful points of superiority with the possibility of unusual decorative treatment. Ambler Asbestos Shingle roofs are beautiful roofs, the lines are clean-cut and uniform, and they retain their original beauty without further attention.
